Mapping the framework of procurement and public catering service

- Mapping in partner countries/regions: Finland, Estonia, Denmark, Poland, Brandenburg, St Petersburg, including
- Political and legal framework
- Relevant segments
- Analysis of selected segment
  - Procurement models
  - Operational models
  - Manufacturing models
  - Cost sharing
- Comparison of country reports
Legal framework of procuring public catering

• Clear division between east and west coast of the Baltic Sea

• Strategic level
  ▪ Estonia, Poland and Russia mainly focus on hygiene, nutrition
  ▪ Denmark, Finland and Brandenburg focus also on environmental criteria, such as organic food

• Targets of GPP

• GPP criteria (main focus on organic)
  ▪ Some regions in Denmark really high level organic
  ▪ Other countries initial attempts in some few municipalities, generally no GPP criteria
Comparison between public catering segments

- Hospitals
- Prisons
- Day care
- Schools
- Universities
- Elderly homes
- Armed forces
- Canteens of public officials

- Procurement models
- Operational models
- Manufacturing models
- Cost sharing
Comparison between public catering segments

- Hospitals, prisons, armed forces and day care and schools until are subject to public catering in most StratKit countries
- Universities and canteens of government officials relevant only some countries
- Quite big diversity in procurement models, operational models, manufacturing models and cost sharing
School catering in selected countries

• Procurement models – Poland very decentralised, Estonia mostly centralised, other countries mixed or no data
• Operational models – Poland mostly in-house, Estonia and Russia mostly contract catering, Finland in-house, contracted or publicly owned commercial company
• Manufacturing models – Estonia, Poland mostly cooked and served, Russia and Finland all models available (Cook and serve, Cook and chill, C. Cold combination, heated up/served
• Cost sharing – Estonia, Finland fully subsidised, other countries partly subsidised, St Petersburg partly no subsidies at all
Thank you!
