GPP national strategies: the PT experience and state of art

- 3rd strategy | ECO360 | 2023-2030

Major drivers and state of art:

- strengthening of the governance structure;
- strategy followed by an action plan to ensure implementation;
- strong focus on dissemination and capacity building/training;
- broader scope of application to include key stakeholders such as local and regional administrations;
- public consultation just ended (yesterday).

2. Expectations for the years to come

Expectations for the years to come

Big increase in knowledge and use of environmental criteria in PT, specially in GPP.

Why:

New strategy with reinforced structure and very ambitious goals;

Different policies and legal documents – EU & PT - foresee the use of environmental criteria, either as a mandatory condition or as factor of positive discrimination, in the access to funding.

3. GPP national strategy & CircPro teams:
a partnership in progress

GPP national strategy & CircPro teams: a partnership in progress

CCDR-A's participation in the last GPP strategy gave them a good understanding of it;

APA's participation in CircPro events grant easier access to one of the priority target audiences identified in the last strategy: local and regional administrations;

proximity facilitates a more tailored approach to target audiences, increasing the chances of success in use of GPP.
